

Rhone Valley, France

STEPHANE OGIER

VIGNERON EN CÔTE-RÔTIE

Cote Rotie la Cote Blonde

Dense and grippy at the start, with a cast iron note leading off, this quickly turns racy overall, as mouthwatering acidity lets a range of red and black currant and blackberry fruit play out through the finish against a backdrop of bay leaf, savory, licorice root, espresso cream and baker's chocolate. Built for the long haul. Best from 2025 through 2042.

97 pts
Wine Spectator

Distributed by Elite Wines*

Rhone Valley, France

STEPHANE OGIER

VIGNERON EN CÔTE-RÔTIE

Cote Rotie la Cote Blonde

Dense and grippy at the start, with a cast iron note leading off, this quickly turns racy overall, as mouthwatering acidity lets a range of red and black currant and blackberry fruit play out through the finish against a backdrop of bay leaf, savory, licorice root, espresso cream and baker's chocolate. Built for the long haul. Best from 2025 through 2042.

97 pts
Wine Spectator

Distributed by Elite Wines*

Rhone Valley, France

STEPHANE OGIER

VIGNERON EN CÔTE-RÔTIE

Cote Rotie la Cote Blonde

Dense and grippy at the start, with a cast iron note leading off, this quickly turns racy overall, as mouthwatering acidity lets a range of red and black currant and blackberry fruit play out through the finish against a backdrop of bay leaf, savory, licorice root, espresso cream and baker's chocolate. Built for the long haul. Best from 2025 through 2042.

97 pts
Wine Spectator

Distributed by Elite Wines*

Rhone Valley, France

STEPHANE OGIER

VIGNERON EN CÔTE-RÔTIE

Cote Rotie la Cote Blonde

Dense and grippy at the start, with a cast iron note leading off, this quickly turns racy overall, as mouthwatering acidity lets a range of red and black currant and blackberry fruit play out through the finish against a backdrop of bay leaf, savory, licorice root, espresso cream and baker's chocolate. Built for the long haul. Best from 2025 through 2042.

97 pts
Wine Spectator

Distributed by Elite Wines*

Rhone Valley, France

STEPHANE OGIER

VIGNERON EN CÔTE-RÔTIE

Cote Rotie la Cote Blonde

Dense and grippy at the start, with a cast iron note leading off, this quickly turns racy overall, as mouthwatering acidity lets a range of red and black currant and blackberry fruit play out through the finish against a backdrop of bay leaf, savory, licorice root, espresso cream and baker's chocolate. Built for the long haul. Best from 2025 through 2042.

97 pts
Wine Spectator

Distributed by Elite Wines*

Rhone Valley, France

STEPHANE OGIER

VIGNERON EN CÔTE-RÔTIE

Cote Rotie la Cote Blonde

Dense and grippy at the start, with a cast iron note leading off, this quickly turns racy overall, as mouthwatering acidity lets a range of red and black currant and blackberry fruit play out through the finish against a backdrop of bay leaf, savory, licorice root, espresso cream and baker's chocolate. Built for the long haul. Best from 2025 through 2042.

97 pts
Wine Spectator

Distributed by Elite Wines*

