Winemakers' Perspective

The Mauritson Dry Creek Valley Sauvignon Blanc embodies our core philosophy that great wine is made in the vineyard! With minimal oak influence and no malolactic conversion, it's truly one of the purest expressions of Sauvignon Blanc you will find in California.

Our 2024 vintage is sourced entirely from Hardie Ranch. Planted more than two decades ago, the vineyard is located in the northern part of the valley, along the banks of Dry Creek, where the soils are gravelly and deep, allowing for great water drainage and root penetration. A warmer growing season added additional fresh fruit details without sacrificing the inherent energy of this varietal. We were able to create blending options through multiple harvests that captured different aromatic and flavor profiles. Fermenting and aging in both stainless steel and wood vessels and using large format versus small format barrels were additional decisions designed to achieve maximum depth and complexity.

On the nose, there's a beautifully detailed aromatic profile of perfumed crushed kaffir lime leaf, young white magnolia blossom and crushed river stone, with an enticing underlying pulse of green mango, candied white pineapple and honeydew melon flesh. The entry is bright, energetic and very inviting. On the palate, cleansing citrus zest gives the wine focus, while a kiss of summer-ripened golden kiwi carries the round and refreshing lift on the finish.
